

Executive Profile

Gary A. Fahl
Vice President, Environmental,
Safety & Security

Gary A. Fahl was promoted to Vice President, Environmental, Safety & Security in May 2005, from Environmental, Health & Safety Officer, a position he held for six years. He is currently in charge of Environmental, Safety, Security, Facilities, Administrative Services, and Racine Plant Services. He joined Modine in 1981 as an environmental engineer. In December 1997, Mr. Fahl was named Environmental Compliance Officer responsible for overseeing international environmental engineering activities and to assure compliance with the various rules and regulations.

Prior to joining Modine, Mr. Fahl served as an Assistant Project Engineer at Graef, Anhalt & Schloemer in Milwaukee, Wis. He also worked as a Research Analyst for the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission in Waukesha, Wisconsin.

Born in 1955, Mr. Fahl received his bachelor's degree in meteorology/climatology from the University of Wisconsin, Madison. Mr. Fahl currently is a member of the National Association for Environmental Management, Federation of Environmental Technologists, Wisconsin Council of Safety and the National Safety Council.